Important information about COVID-19

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention have the most up-to-date information from the federal government about infectious diseases including COVID-19. We have included extensive information below, but further guidance is available at https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019nCoV/index.html.

The Nevada Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) and Governor Sisolak’s Office have created the Nevada Health Response Center to educate Nevadans about COVID-19 and the state’s efforts to prevent the spread of the disease. A new dashboard feature includes valuable information on testing and confirmed cases statewide. For more information on COVID-19 prevention and mitigation efforts in Nevada, visit www.NVHealthResponse.nv.gov.

What is COVID-19?
COVID-19 is a respiratory disease caused by a recently discovered coronavirus that can spread from person to person. Its symptoms include fever, dry cough, and shortness of breath. While most people who contract COVID-19 will experience mild symptoms, others will have serious complications, including pneumonia, organ failure, and death. Older adults and people of any age who have serious underlying medical conditions may be at higher risk for more serious complications from COVID-19. People who may be at higher risk of getting very sick from this illness, include:
- Older adults
- People who have serious underlying medical conditions like:
  - Heart disease
  - Diabetes
  - Lung disease

How do I avoid the spread of COVID-19?
You can take steps to prevent the spread of COVID-19 and protect your loved ones by following the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention’s recommendations. These include:
- Practicing social distancing by putting distance between yourself and others;
- Staying home when you’re sick;
- Disinfecting frequently-touched objects and surfaces, like door handles;
- Cleaning your hands often;
- And avoiding touching your face.

What should I do if I’m experiencing a medical emergency related to COVID-19?
Call 911 if you have a medical emergency. If you have a medical emergency and need to call 911, notify the operator that you have or think you might have COVID-19. If possible, put on a facemask before medical help arrives.

If you develop these SEVERE symptoms of COVID-19, get medical attention immediately. Emergency warning signs include:
- Difficulty breathing or shortness of breath
